

Novels by Ellen Dreyer

THE GLOW
STONE
Peachtree
Publishers, 2006
ISBN 978-1-56145-
370-2

A Bank Street
College Best
Book of the Year

For Phoebe, a caving adventure turns into a mysterious, harrowing journey toward a haunting family secret.

“A terrific new voice in young adult fiction, Ellen Dreyer is the real thing—a writer who knows how to grab the reader’s attention and never let it go.”
—James Howe, author of THE MISFITS and THE WATCHER

“Filled with thoughtful details and surprising depths.” —Kliatt

SPEECHLESS
IN NEW YORK
Four Corners
Publishing, 2003
ISBN 189-3-
57709-0

Will a sore throat and other setbacks stand between Jessie and her dream of singing in New York?

“...a fast-paced adventure...right in tune with today’s youth.”—Foreword Magazine

Ellen Dreyer
P.O. Box 725
Maplewood, NJ 07040

Meet Author Ellen Dreyer

“Writing is taking a journey to the little-known or unknown places within you. Travel with patience, courage, open eyes, and an open heart. In time, you will return with treasure.”

Ellen Dreyer

AUTHOR ELLEN DREYER...

- Has published more than thirty trade and educational books for children and teens.
- Edited trade children's books for over twenty years, working for such companies as Orchard Books, McGraw-Hill, William Morrow, Dial, and Dorling Kindersley.
- Won two Hopwood Awards from the University of Michigan for her short stories.
- Taught writing workshops in New York City schools with Learning through an Expanded Arts Program (LEAP) and Learning Leaders.
- Believes all student writers deserve the same attention that professional editors give authors!

SCHOOL VISITS

A Single Day's Visit

This exciting, interactive program will motivate your students to become better writers. A single day's visit can be formatted in two ways:

1. I will meet with up to five classes for up to one hour each. Each session begins with a brief discussion of my work. Then there is a question-and-answer time. Finally, I engage students in a writing activity that can become a springboard for a more developed written piece.
2. I will give a one-hour assembly presentation about my work. The assembly will be followed by up to four 30-minute class visits for Q&A.

A Week-long Residency

This is the optimal experience for student writers! I will visit the same five classes each day for a week, working one-on-one with students as they write. In the weeks following my residency, students will continue revising and polishing their pieces. I will return to school for a publishing party with the classes, and a discussion of how students can find a magazine or other venue for publishing their work.

TESTIMONIALS

"You're wonderful in the classroom, and...you had an enormous impact on children at PS 44." —Susie Mee, Program Specialist, Learning Leaders, New York, NY

"Ellen Dreyer helped bring out the best in our seventh and eighth grade students, who were riveted by her reading from "The Glow Stone"....Ellen's ability to connect with young people came through clearly, and her respect and admiration for their ideas made for a rich and memorable author visit."—Nancy Workman P.D., Faculty, Manhattan Country School, New York, NY

For more information:
(973) 868-4396
ellen@ellendreyer.com
www.ellendreyer.com